NOTE.

THE main feature of the system of inland trade registration is the division of the entire network of railway lines in British India into blocks. At present there are in all 16 principal blocks, namely, eight blocks representing the British Provinces—Eastern Bengal and Assam,* Bengal,* the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Panjab, Sind and British Baluchistan,* the Central Provinces and Berar, Bombay and Madras; five representing the principal port-towns—Chittagong,† Calcutta, Bombay, the Madras seaports (Madras, Pondicherry, Negapatam, Tuticorin, Calicut, Cocanada, Vizagapatam and Cuddalore) and Karachi; and three representing Native States—Rajputana and Central India together, the Nizam's Territory, and Mysore. The trade registered is the trade which comes into, or goes out of, each block by rail, exclusive of traffic which is merely booked through. In consequence of the arrangement of blocks mentioned above, the trade shown in these tables under the head "Bengal" is the trade of the province of Bengal excluding Calcutta, the trade of which is shown separately; and similarly the trade credited to "Eastern Bengal and Assam," "Bombay," "Sind and British Baluchistan," and "Madras" is the trade of those provinces excluding Chittagong, Bombay port, Karachi, and the seaports of Madras, for which separate figures are given.

The trade of Native States which lie within the external boundaries of a British province is included in the trade of the province. Rail-borne trade is not registered in Burma.

The British Provinces, Sind and British Baluchistan excepted, are subdivided into minor or "internal" blocks on the same plan, and each of the eight principal seaports of Madras is an internal block of the principal block "Madras seaports." The formation of these internal blocks has not been carried out on any uniform principle; in some cases their boundaries follow administrative divisions, while in others they are determined by geographical or other considerations. The Native States have no internal blocks.

The work of registration is performed by the principal railway audit offices which register the goods carried for delivery to consignees on their own lines or passing over their lines for delivery on connected lines.

The required information is collected from railway invoices which, among other particulars, show the description of goods, the stations from which they are sent and at which they are received, and their gross actual weights. The weight of goods recorded in these tables represents net weight. That is to say, a certain percentage, which varies according to the class of goods, is taken to represent the weight of packing materials and is deducted from the gross actual weights recorded on the railway invoices. The remainder is taken as the actual weight of the goods themselves.

The railways register (1) the trade between the internal blocks of a province and (2) the trade between the internal blocks of a province and the internal blocks of other provinces, and supply quarterly returns to each province. From these returns a quarterly statement is prepared for each province, showing —

- i. The trade of the province as a whole with other provinces.

* The figures in this volume against Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, and Sind and British Baluchistan for the four years, 1902-03 to 1905-06, relate respectively to Assam, Bengal (as it stood before its partition) and Sind only.

† Constituted a separate block from the first of April, 1906.

ii. The trade of each internal block in the province with other provinces.

iii. The trade of the internal blocks of the province with one another.

The consolidated accounts of the inland trade of India are compiled from statement I of the provincial quarterly returns. As the Native States furnish no returns, the trade between one of the three principal blocks formed of Native States and another is not ascertainable. The trade between each of these three principal blocks and British Provinces is, however, obtained thus—the imports into the provinces represent the exports from the Native States, and the exports from the provinces represent imports into Native States.

The river-borne trade between—

Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam,
Bengal and the United Provinces,
the United Provinces and Eastern Bengal and Assam, the Panjab and Sind and British Baluchistan is also registered and the results combined with the statistics of rail-borne trade.

The river-borne trade represents the trade carried by country boats, as well as by inland steamers. The boat traffic is registered at certain selected river stations by clerks who collect the required information from the boatmen, and forward the returns to the provincial officers; that carried by steamers is registered by the steamer agents or by clerks from provincial offices who extract the information from the invoices recorded in the offices of the steamer companies. The trade carried partly by rail and partly by river, when booked through and carried by steamers running in connection with railways, is recorded by the railway audit offices concerned.

As the railway and steamer invoices do not contain figures of value, the returns prepared by the audit offices contain only figures of quantity which are recorded in standard maunds of 82½ lbs. The annual provincial statements contain figures of value assigned by provincial officers, but the accounts for India both quarterly and annual contain only figures of quantity. Hitherto the net weight in maunds has been given, but in this volume the figures have been converted into hundredweights.

The classified list of articles shown in these tables is arranged in alphabetical order. The classification corresponds in the main with that employed in the sea-borne trade accounts, but it is less detailed and the various articles are not grouped under main headings.

Table I is an abstract of the rail-borne trade of British India for five years. As the same goods appear in the first and second parts as imports and exports respectively, the totals of each part correspond.

Table II is a similar abstract for treasure.

Table III is an abstract table showing for five years the imports into, and exports from, each of the sixteen principal blocks, of each article according to the classified list.

Table IV gives a general view of the trade of the year in each article showing at once the quantities imported into, and exported from, each of the sixteen principal blocks.

Tables V—XII show the imports and exports of principal articles into and from Calcutta, Bombay, Karachi and Madras for five years.
